Fifty Thousand Visitors Witness the Afternoon Exercises—The Camp to Be Turned Over to Maj.-Gen. Carnahan Today-Settled Policy.

CLEVELAND (O.,) Aug. 23.—Great crowds of visitors were attracted to the Knights of Pythias encampment today, it being estimated that 50,000 spectators witnessed the dress parade for the second Ohio Regiment this afternoon. This is the only full regiment to the comp. But it is expected that yet at the camp, but it is expected that that all the Ohio knights will be here by tomorrow. Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, Director-General Day of the Centennial Committee will formally turn over the camp to Maj.-Gen. Carnhahan. The exercises at the camp this afternoon consisted of the dress parade and a band concert. This evening many of the visiting knights attended services at the Epworth Memorial Methodist Methodist Church and listened to an appropriate sermon by the pastor.

Among the attractions at the camp is Lafayette, Ind., division of the uniform rank, which has won more prizes than any other division in the country, even though it has not competed in prize drills in eight years. There is also present the crack division from Hastings, Mich., both of these divisions will be in the parade and competitive drill.

Maj.-Gen. Carnahan, in speaking today of the knights as a military organization, said it, was part of the written law of the order that the knights should respond to the call of the government in time of war, especially if it was necessary to repel invasion by a fereign foe. The knights were not in any sense guardsmen, he said, and they would not take part in internal dissensions, unless it was necessary to preserve order and uphold the laws. Supreme Chancellor Ritchie, in speaking today of the policy of the order, said there would probably be no change. "The same lesson that it teaches men today," he said, "will be good for many a thousand years hence. No great question of policy will be debated at the present session of the Supreme Lodge. The German question and the saloon question were finally settled and in a deflite, decided and plain maner."

orrespondence That Would Make Interesting Rending if It Were Given Out — Gossip About the Probable Successor.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.) WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 .- The news that Secretary Hoke Smith had re-signed and that his resignation had been accepted by the President, which was exclusively announced by the As-sociated Press yesterday afternoon, made a considerable stir in political circles here today, although the probability of Smith's retirement had been in a measure, anticipated ever since his paper, the Atlanta Journal, declared that it would support Bryan and Sewall. Secretary Smith still declined to dis-cuss the subject today, but it is known that the personal relations between the President and Smith have in no wise been disturbed. Smith's resignation, his friends say, grew out of his differences with his chief on the question of party policy and his desire not to embarrass the President at such a time. Beyond the question of his conception of his party loyalty in acquiescing in the will of the majority, Smith during his campaign for the gold standard in Georgia paign for the gold standard in Georgia against ex-Speaker Crisp had given a personal pledge that he would, if defeated, support the nominees of the convention. As an honorable man, his friends say he felt it his duty to redeem that pledge.

He informed the President of his position and intentions, and to avoid em-that pledge.

He informed the President of his position and intentions, and to avoid embarrassment he placed his resignation at his disposal. It is said President Cleveland remonstrated. The correspondence on the subject, if published, would no doubt be interesting, but it is doubtful whether it will ever be given out. It can be stated, however, with great positiveness that the step which Secretary Smith felt himself compelled to take has not in any way affected the warm regard the President and Smith entertained for each other.

There has been a good deal of gossip about Smith's successor today, It seems altogether unlikely that John M. Reynolds, the assistant secretary, will be promoted. It is regarded as much more probable that a new man will be selected, probably from the Middle West, Indiana, Illinois or Missouri. Congressman Bynum of Indiana and Ex-Congressman Cable of Illinois are those around which gossip most persistently clings. All are pronounced gold Democrats.

(BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.) NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(Special Dispatch.) The Sun's London correspondent says great interest is being taken both in England and France in M. Brazilus's roller steamboat which was launched in the Seine Wednesday. The steamboat on wheels or rollers. The inventor's object has been to increase the speed by suppressing the friction of the water against the vessel as it is forced forward. This, he contends, has been accomplished by sub stituting for the ordinary hull of the vessel, a sort of platform supported over the water by revolving lenticular-shaped wheels. These wheels are made to turn in cadence, or correlation with the forward impulsion given to the vessel by the screw. The boat is therefore not to be forced through the water, but to roll upon its surface. Theoretically, Near Wabash, Ind., the barn and contents of Ben Wolfs, Oscar Caroth-lalmost all the motive power should be nomized, but experience alon demonstrate whether that advantage will be obtained.

The new vessel is a steamship of 280 tons burden, measuring 125 feet long by 36 feet broad. The platform or deck is supported by three pairs of wheels, each having a diameter of thirty-two feet. Being hollow, they act as buoys and will, when laden with the superstructure, engines, coal, etc., be immersed about eleven feet. The motive power is 750 horse-power. Each pair of wheels will be driven by a separate engine, as is also the screw. One boiler will furnish steam for four engines. An ordinary vessel of the same tonnage, with the same motive power would steam at about ten knots an hour, whereas the rolling boat is expected to attain between eighteen and twenty-two knots. About five hundred and fifty horse-power will be employed to propel the screw, and the remaining 200 horse-power for the rotation of the wheels. The boat will be finished in October, when it is expected to make a trial trip from Havre to London.

The crop is not of the best quality, and it is a question whether a considerable acreage in North Dakota and Northern Minnesota is not overestimated because of probable frost injury. No allowance has been made for frost, however, in this computation. The late wheat is filling nicely, and promises a good yield if not injured.

There will be another distribution of his speeches about October 1. The demand for them is so great, notwithstanding the fact they are all published in the newspapers, that it has been found necessary to print them in book form.

McKinley still insists that he will take no holiday during the campaign, but he has promised to go to Zoar, about eighteen miles from Canton. When he goes, he hopes to remain two or three days. within the jurisdiction of the British South Africa Company, believes that the surrender of the natives was practically unconditional.

The war with the Matabeles, which began in South Africa early in this year, in many respects resembled the early Indian wars in America. Several hundred settlers in the more sparsely-settled portions of Matabeleland were murdered by the natives. Survivors in the country districts quickly gathered in the karger towns, and lines of defense were thrown up while the existing fortifications were garrisoned as strongly as possible. The natives were at first commanded by, a son of the late King Lobengula. To the number of 20,000 they gathered on the hills around Buluwayo, the principal town. To a considerable extent they were actuated by a sort of religious frenzy, but other causes are said to have combined to bring about the trouble.

Chief among these were the wrongdoings of native police and the imposition by the South African Chartered Company of a hut tax on the 43,000 huts of the natives in Matabeleland. The tax, the natives sternly resisted for many months, but the Chartered Company insisted upon this revenue being collected and refused to make any exceptions. It was not until Cecil Rhodes at this late t-me, to some extent under a cloud because of his alleged connection with the raid into the Transvaal conducted by Dr. Jameson, came to the rescue and started from Rhodesia with an armed force, that the backbone of the revolt was broken.

at Senator Hill's Place - The Burning Question, "Am I a Demo-erat?" Thought to Be Settled.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE. SARATOGA (N. Y.,) Aug. 23.— Thomas C. Platt will probably be the nomince of the Republican State Convention for Governor of New York. Unless he can successfully combat a great and growing sentiment that was growing all day, and has almost ceased to be a matter that Platt can control, Platt's name will be presented to the convention, every other candidate will withdraw and he will be nominated without debate. The Associated Press correspondent showed this statement to Platt late tonight. He thought for a minute, ran his thin, al most effemi-nate hand through his beard, and nate hand through his beard, and said slowly: "I am not a candidate, and do not want the office."

"But, Mr. Platt, suppose that the convention is stampeded for you?"

"I don't think it will be. I don't want the nomination. I prefer plain citizenship, and I shall decline to stand for the nomination. I have told this to all the persons spoken to me about it."

It was, however, a significant fact that late tonight Edward Lauterbach and Lemuel E. Quigg were working among the delegates, and Platt had among the delegates, and Platt had not instructed them to desist. Ex-State Senator Van Cott was also advo-cating the nomination of Platt, and he asserted that Platt, while averse to the nomination, would take it if the delegates offered it to him in con-the delegates offered it to him in convention.

Lieut.-Gov, Saxton said tonight: "In my opinion the nomination will go to Mr. Platt. The tide has been set that way strongly; and I do not think Mr. Platt can stop it. Hamilton Fish, who is a candidate for Governor, said tonight: 'If Mr. Platt will stand for Governor, I will withdraw and second it. I am for Platt.'"

George W. Aldrich, who is also a candidate for Governor, is credited with making a similar statement, and it is certain that if Platt's name is presented, all the candidates will withdraw.

Congressman Quigg said late tonight:
"Mr. Platt will be nominated by ac-

I think from the looks of things that Mr. Platt will be nominated."

There was another story affoat to night. It was that Platt would allow the agitation in his behalf to proceed until tomorrow in order to demonstrate the agitation in his behalf to proceed until tomorrow in order to demonstrate his popularity among the delegates, and that then he would call upon his lieutenants to withdraw his name. There are many who believe that this is so, and that Platt's name will not go before the convention. At a late hour Platt reiterated his refusal to the Associated Press. As if to emphasize this latter view of the situation, Platt said further tonight: "Not only will I refuse to accept the nomination, but I shall not in any way interfere with the candidates for Governor. They must fight it out for themselves."

The State convention promises to be full of interesting incident, verbal and even vigorous personal attacks and allusions and a breach in the party that will probably lead to a third ticket. If reports be true the State organizations will place Warner Miller on the outside of the convention. It is said tonight that Senator John Raines, who made the personal attack on Miller in the meeting of the New York State delegation at St. Louis, will be the chairman of the committee on Credentials in this convention, if it be adverse to Miller, therefore will be anxious only to hear the Democratic candidates for President. An one could address so large a multitude in advance of Mr. Bryan with advantage, and after he concludes, it is likely that every one will wish to shake Mr. Bryan's hand. # Prospect of a Free Lunch Startles

UPPER RED HOOK, (N. Y.,) Aug. 23.—The fact that William J. Bryan, Democratic candidate for the Presi-Democratic candidate for the Presidency, will lunch with Senator Hill, dency, will lunch with Senator Hill, the leader of the party organization in this State, became known today to the little party of politicians inhabiting the Red Hook Hotel, and inspired more anticipatory discussion among them than any other incident of the candidate's eastern trip.

Everyone asumes that Senator Hill has resolved to support the nominee of the party, else, they argue, he would hardly invite him to sit at his table. And the lunch is taken as a practical announcement of Hill's determination, which is expected to be followed by a more formal declaration of the Senator's attitude.

Bryan will arrive at Albany Tuesday

Bryan will arrive at Albany Tuesday Bryan will arrive at Albany Tuesday ternoon and will have two hours for freshment before the speech which is billed to make. He will spend two ours, according to the programme hich has been arranged for him, at olfert's Roost, the handsome residence which Senator Hill bought of Fritz Emmett, the actor. This visit having been arranged, the Democratic candidate and the Senator may come to an understanding, if they have not already done so, which will mark a distinct enoch in the campaign.

Tomerrow Bryan will go to Winnisook Lodge, in the Catskills, to pass the night with State Chairman Hinekley and other party managers of the State organization, to discuss with them the plans of the campaign. He will meet other prominent Democrats in the cities in the State which he is to visit, and before he leaves New York will know what measure of support he is to receive from the leaders of this State. The representative of the Associated Press today asked Bryanwhether he was to lunch with Senator Hill, and he replied diplomatically: "I have not been fully advised concerning the arrangements which are made for my entertainment in Albany."

This was a very quiet day with Bryan—that is, a day as quiet as a candidate for the Presidency can expect. There were many callers at the Perrine house from the surrounding country who asked to see Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, and most of them were received.

A dreary rain draggled the village all day and kept most of its inhabitants indoors. In the morning Bryan drew on an overcoat and plodded through the mud with his host, Mr. Perrine, to one of Red Hook's two churches, the worshipping place of the Dutch Reformed communicants. He took an inconspicuous side new and was one inconspicuous side new and was one Reformed communicants. He took an inconspicuous side pew and was one of perhaps a hundred who listened to the sermon by Rev. Robert H. Barr of the Associated Reform Church of Newburgh. There was nothing in the sermon of a political tinge, but the pastor, Rev. G. D. Lydocker, who made the prayer, referred to the candidate. He prayed: "We ask Thee to specially bless Thy servant whom we have with us, Thy honored servant. Fill him with wisdom and power for the anxieties and fatigues of the coming days, and fill him with hope and confidence in all Thy purposes concerning him and these people."

After the service the minister and members of the congregation pressed about Bryan to shake his hand. A CHILLY RETURN.

A CHILLY RETURN. ALBANY (N. Y.,) Aug. 23.—Ex-Sena-tor Norton Chase, the chairman of the Democratic City Committee, was asked today whether he knew anything about the story that Bryan was to be entertained by Senator Hill at Wolfert's Roost while in Albany. Chase said: "Yes, as a matter of personal courtesy to the distinguished visitor to Albany, Senator Hill, through the committee, has invited Mr. Bryan and his wife and a few personal friends to dine with him at Wolfert's Roost on Tuesday afternoon, and Mr. Bryan has accepted the Invitation."
Asked whether Senator Hill would Democratic City Committee, was asked

Asked whether Senator Hill would preside at the meeting to be held at City Hall Square when Bryan makes a speech, Chase said: "The meeting is to be very simple in character and of brief duration. Mr. Bryan will, not speak for more than half an hour, and possibly not longer than twenty minutes. Almost immediately after he finishes, it will be necessary for Mr.
Bryan to start for the station. The people will be anxious only to hear the Democratic candidate for President.
No one could address so large a multitude in advance of Mr. Bryan with advantage, and after he concludes, it is likely that every one will wish to shake Mr. Bryan's hand. So there will be so much confusion we think it impossible to have a speaker follow him.
While the citizens of Albany are always delighted to hear their distinguished fellow-townsman, Senator Hill, the Committee on Arrangements does not think it best to ask Senator Hill to preside at this time."

"I think," he said, "this is the be-"I think," he said, "this is the beginning of a change that will continue until the day of election. Probably at no place in the South is this going on more rapidly than in Georgia, Mr. Watson's own State. The outiook now is that he will carry Georgia, even if the Democrats elect their State ticket. This change is also very marked in North Carolina, and the outlook is that Watson will get the electoral vote of that State.

North Carolina, and the outlook is that Watson will get the electoral vote of that State.

"Every fair-minded man honestly for silver and who puts silver above party, but who is satisfied with the Chicago platform and ticket, realized as soon as our convention adjourned that we had improved on the Chicago ticket. The action of our convention showed conclusively that the People's party was patriotic and put the cause of financial reform even above party advantage itself. If the People's party had nominated a straight ticket and had it been offered to the Democrats in order to offered to the Democrats in order to make victory certain to take down our Presidential candidate, if they would take down the Vice-Presidential take down the Vice-Presidential candidate, so as to form a cooperative ticket, the Democrats would have ticket, the Democrats would have jumped at the proposition and everyone would have said it was fair, unselfish and patriotic.

"The fact that we did not take such and patriotic.

"The fact that we did not take such action for trading purposes, but once took the high and patriotic position that Bryan was as good a silver noan as we could nominate, and therefore we would nominate him, but failed to nominate Sewall for the reason only that he does not represent what Mr. Bryan represents, has commended the People's party to ever fair-minded American opposed to the single gold standard. This put it in a position where with every mistake of the old parties, it will gain two recruits where it would have gained but one before. In short, it puts it in a position where the least failure of the Democrats to carry out their pledges, if they go into power, would make the People's party a great opposition organization, the gold standard in 1900, and practically wipe the Democratic party out of existence."

The attention of Chairman Putler The attention of Chairman Putler was called to the published statements that Hon. L. C. Bateman of Maine, the secretary of the Populist Notification Committee, was in correspondence with the members of that committee, with a view to fixing a day for the notifications of Bryan and Watson of their nomination by the Populist party. Butler, not having the official record of the convention, showing just what had been done in the matter of the appointment of a Notification Committee, expressed a disinclination to talk about the meeting for publication.

He again called attention to the fact that it has not been the practice of the Populist party to notify its nominees. Gens, Weaver and Fields were nominated in 1892. He said that Senator Allen, the chairman of the convention, was the chairman of the Notification Committee if there was one. He again expressed the opinion as he did a week ago, that Bryan and Watson would continue to be the candidates of the Populist party until the campaign was at an end.

Advices received by Senator Butler from Idaho, where the Democrats and Populists have fused and ignored the silver Republicans, show the situation to be somewhat more encouraging for the Populists, but still it is far from satisfactory. It is evident that the work done by the Populist committee is having its effect, and the opinion is expressed that the Conference Committee, which arranged the fusion, may be again called together to see if some measures cannot be devised whereby the silver Republicans may be recognized. Senator Butler believes that this should be done, not alone because of the influence which it would have in the other Western States, but as a matter of equity and justice.

The Vencedor was measured yesterday, but it was found her racing length was too great. Early this morning the Vencedor was taken out into the lake for a spin. Her crew is yet somewhat raw compared with the sailors on the Canada. Capt. Barker kept them at work for eight hours, pulling ropes and hauling canvas. During the day he sailed his boat over the course, which is twenty-four nautical miles, in 1h. 30m. When he came ashore he expressed himself as confident of winning the race. "If we have a stiff breeze and a good sea," he said, "there will be no need of the third race, for the Vencedor will win two races straight with ease." Commodore Berriman feels very much as his captain does about the race. He has no doubt of the outcome in a good wind. The stronger it blows and the rougher the water, the better he will be pleased.

Capt. Jarvis of the Canadian yacht speaks in equal tones of confidence for the success of his boat. "We have just as much chance to have a light breeze, as a stiff one. That is the sort of weather the Vencedor does not want, and it amounts to an admission that we can beat her in a light breeze and smooth water. At all events, we will see a good race and feel confident we shall win, no matter what the weather may be."

which hang over Sharkey may be removed.

Dan Lynch, the financial backer of Sharkey, telegraphed J. D. Gibbs of the National Athletic Club that a match between Fitzsimmons and Sharkey might possibly be arranged. J. D. Gibbs answered immediately, offering terms which he thinks will prove acceptable to the pugilists. Lynch favors San Francisco, and Gibbs, relying upon the persuasive powers of Sharkey's backer is of the opinion that the fight, if it can be arranged at all, will come to this city.

The great obstacle in the way of the fight is the clause in the agreements which were signed by Corbett and Sharkey in San Francisco relevant to the finish match between those fighters. By it Sharkey agreed not to fight or engage in any other than boxing exhibitions previous to his meeting with Corbett. Sporting men, however, are of the opinion that Sharkey and Corbett will never meet. The National Club is the only one which has proposed to give a purse for the fight, though the agreements were signed over two months ago. Corbett will be broached on the matter and awalting his action, the promoters of the fight will do all they can to bring the fight to this Coast.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 .- On suggestion of the government of Nor-way and Sweden the State Department is looking into the treaty rights of for-eign nations to have their merchants entertain privileges which the American laws give to American ships. The French government also is interested in the question, and its determination would apply to the extensive merchan marine service of Great Britain and Germany with the United States.

The question has arisen in connec-tion with a comparatively minor law tion with a comparatively minor law passed by the last Congress which provided that small packages imported to the country by vessels of the United States should be expedited in their shipment across the country by not having to go into a bonded warehouse at a port of arrival. It applies to presents and small packages sent from abroad and not to the bulk of merchandise.

Secretary Carlisle has proceeded to execute the law, although the intimation has been that he would suspend the law because it was in conflict with treaty rights. Treasury officials take the ground, however, that the question of treaties are not for them to decide and their only duty is to enforce the law as they find it. They received a letter from the State Departtorce the law as they had it. They re-ceived a letter from the State Depart-ment calling attention to the desire of foreign governments to be included in the privileges of the law, to which the treasury replies that the law gives no authority to extend the privilege beyond the ships of the United States This law is the question to be deter mined by the State Department and shipping provisions of various treaties with foreign countries are being looked into.

Great Britain Considering What to Do With Crete.

A Drastic Remedy Seems to Be the Proper Thing.

The London Standard Has Adopted the Gladstonian Idea—Warns the Porte That the Latter Courts Punishment—A Locum Tenens.

(BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE.) NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(Special Dispatch.) The Sun's London dispatch says no information is vouchsafed yet about the negotiations between the pow-ers for the settlement of the Cretan, and, it is shrewdly suggested, of the whole Turkish question. Signs multi-

It is highly significant that the London Standard has come over to a complete acceptance of Gladstone's view of the situation. It says: "By its persistent neglect of reiterated warnings to put its house in order—and the first step to that end should be the concession of autonomy to Crete—the Porte courts autonomy to Crete—the Porte courts punishment that must in the end over-take an empire which disregards its duty to its subjects. There was a time duty to its subjects. There was a time when this country, as it showed by its deeds, was willing to make any sacrifice in order to preserve the integrity of Turkey. We should still be unwilling to hasten its division, but the persistent misgovernment of the Sultan has made it impossible for an English Minister to suggest the idea of going to war in defence of so rotten a system." ense of so rotten a system.

The same newspaper, which, more than any other, voices the government opinion, also says: "Great Britain will opinion, also says. Order brain was act with the powers, not independently of them. A RICH TURF PRIZE.

A RICH TURF PRIZE.

William Engeman, president of the Brighton Beach Racing Asociation, announces that he will eclipse all records in the way of rich turf prizes by offering a stake open to the world, at four miles, the value of which will be somewhere between $100,000 and $150,000. The race will not be run before 1900. A great amount of labor will be entailed in the preparation of such an event, and it will take time to place the project before the turfmen of both the Old and New Worlds.

The conditions of the race have not been fully determined, but it has been decided to make it as nearly as possible a combination of the stallion stakes of the Westchester Racing Association and the Futurity of the Coney Island Jockey A RICH TURF PRIZE.

a combination of the stallion stakes of the Westchester Racing Association and the Futurity of the Coney Island Jockey Club. In the former, which is worth in the neighborhood of $20,000, the stallion is entered, and any of his get are eligible for the race, the owner of the sire of the first, second and third horses taking a share of the purse. (The Breeder and Sportsman suggested just such a stake in its issue of July 4, 1896.)

In the Futurity the foals of all mares entered are eligible, and the breeder of the first, second and third to finish are awarded $4000, $2000 and $1000 respectively. To induce owners to try their horses for so long a distance, it is not only necessary that a big purse be hung up, but also that a large number of races be arranged at shorter distances, graduated from, say, five-eighths of a mile, in the early season, to three miles, shortly before the great event. To obtain such a series of stake events it will be necessary for the Brighton Beach people to obtain the cooperation of a number of others, if not all the other racing associations in the country.

all the other racing associations in the country.

When the preliminaries necessary to the successful carrying out of this stupendous scheme are completed and the conditions are finally settled upon, Mr. Engeman proposes to send agents to Europe to explain in person the great advantages that the race will present to the owners of foreign breeding farms, studs, stallions and mares, and it is confidently expected that the result will be a record-breaking list of entries.

PROFESSIONAL ROAD RACE.
California will soon have the distinction of holding the first professional road race. It will be an event to attract interest throughout the entire country, and furnish a much-desired opportunity of comparing the performances of the crack track riders with those of the amateur road riders. The race will take place some time next month over the famous San Leandro-Haywards courses, near San Francisco. Five miles is the distance. There will be a $25 purse offered for first place and a similar one to the rider making the best time in addition to smaller prizes. be a $25 purse offered for first place and a similar one to the rider making the best time, in addition to smaller prizes. If the two are actually to part after working together for so many years it will be strange and can only be the result of a most decided difference of opinion. The only thing which gives the slightest color of truth to the story is that Johnson has not shown up in very good shape on this trip and that is not at all in accordance with Eck's way of running things. Still, when we see Johnson with a new trainer, and Eck with a new "phenom" it will be time enough to believe that the pair have quit.

POINTS ON TRAINING.

POINTS ON TRAINING.

POINTS ON TRAINING.

A veteran cyclist says: "In training for races it is not alone essential to acquire great speed and a strong sprint. Practice to ride in a bunch of riders without a mishap, and the ability to extricate yourself successfully is needed. Nowadays you will hear that John Brown would have won such a race only that he was pocketed. You rarely ever hear that Bald, Cooper, Murphy, Gardiner or other such well-known men have been caught in pockets from which they have been unable to get free. The reason is obvious. These latter men train carefully. They ride in bunches in practice with their team mates, practice elbow maneuvers and tricks that are perfectly fair, so that when crowded, skillful riding brings them out of their predicament.

"I have seen Charley Murphy and

ing brings them out of their predicament.

"I have seen Charley Murphy and Eddle Bald riding in a paced race, and the movements of these two riders to get the tandem for pace on the final quarter has been really interesting. Greater practice of the generalship of racing will decrease the number of accidents that take place each season."

AS OTHERS SEE THEM.

The Wheelmen's Racing League is commented upon as follows by a San Francisco cycling writer:

"A remarkable condition of affairs is said to have brought about the recent action of professional riders in Southern California, whereby they set at defiance the laws of the governing body of cycle racing, which prohibits Sunday racing. They claim that the promotion of racing is in the hands of a few persons who decline to touch professional sport owing to the fact that it is more expensive than amateur racing. A little band of riders have taken up the promotion of professional racing, the highest development of the sport, and hope to make somethic of it where it has been neglected heretofore.

"They have committed what, under the rules of the racing board, is considered outlawry. Unless a radical change be made in the rules they can never hope to compete with the professionals governed by the League, nor on any League track. In addition every person in any wise connected with it as an official cannot serve the League. Thereficial cannot serve the League.

League track. In addition every person in any wise connected with it as an official cannot serve the League. There are influences already at work looking to the next general assembly to sanction local option in the matter of Sunday racing, and if this is permitted a general amnesty may be granted those riders now under the ban."

The real reason whys bicycle can be balanced so easily, says a writer in the Caveland Leader. To flustrate this point, contained himself upon the heels of his shoes. He will soon feel that his weight is going either forward or backward, and to short steps in the direction in which his body is moving; and thus reason his body is moving, and thus restore his equilibrium. So long as be keeps moving his heels, one way or the other, his balance for a few seconds, but if he tries to accomplish he same result without moving the heels he will have anything but a graceful manner.

This explains why it is so much earlier to maintain a balance on sills than on a light rope. more confidence than Bill Dahlen. During the recent New York series he bet $50 the Coits would win two out of three games, something they had not done in a long time. In the Cincinnati series of four games some time ago he bet the Chicagos would win two out of three, after they had lost the first game. He won the bets easily and is willing to make a lot more of the same kind.

The Cleveland club not very long ago was offered $21.000 for Burkett, McKean and Childs by the New York club, and Mr. Robinson refused the offer. He has had a score of offers for McKean, and Mac at one time was anxious to g), but Robinson would not listen to the propositions. Neither would Tebeau sanction the selling or trading of McKean.

Tomorrow evening the National Club of San Francisco is to give a boxing entertainment in the Grove-street The-ater. The fun is to begin at 8:30 o'clock with an eight-round contest between "Kid" O'Brien of this city and Ed Pincus of Sacramento. The youngsters are to scale 135 pounds, and if the ref-

Pincus of Sacramento. The youngsters are to scale 135 pounds, and if the referee is unable to decide at the end of the last round he is privileged to order two more rounds.

The second event will be between Henry Peppers, the middle-weight champion of California, and Frank Purcel of New York, who is known as "The Cyclone" in the East. The conditions of this contest are the same as in the preceding bout. Purcel will have ten pounds the better of the weight. It is confidently expected that this will be a hurrioane affair, as both men are rushers, although Peppers sometimes makes a waiting battle.

The main event of the night is the "go" between Van Buskirk and Stelzner. There has been little betting on the contest, as speculators are a bit at sea in regard to the merits of Stelzner. He has done most of his fighting in the South. According to reports, he is showing up well in his trials with Choynski. There is no difference in the height of the men, but Van Buskirk has an advantage in weight. Stelzner is the man selected to take Jim Jeffeles's place.

Like other pugilists, he has a list of draws and victories, and all the rest of it to his credit, but he does not parade it or talk about it. He tells in his modest way that he was Fitzsimmons's boxing partner for weeks at the training grounds in Mexico, and he thinks that fact alone should be a guarantee that he can stand fire. It certainly is a guarantee, for a practice bout with hard-fisted Fitzsimmons is a fight to all intents and purposes. Stelzner had a fight of that the textiling lext the texti intents and purposes. Stelzner had a fight of that kind on his hands every day that the training lasted, barring a few days that he was off duty with a reactured nose. He is a clever, aggressive fighter, and so, probably, the doughty Van Buskirk will think before the mill is over. ughty Van Bussele mill is over.

ABOUT "JOHN L."

"When Richard is himself," writes Macon McCormick, "there is no more level-headed fellow in the business than John L. Sullivan. He realizes that his attractiveness as a theatrical star is not what it was, and though he can still make a good living in the show business, he knows that there are other means of making a livelihood and a competency that are surer and more permanent. I trust that the report that he is about to become the boniface of the Clarendon Hotel in Boston is true. I may be wrong in my guess, but I feel the clarendon Hotel in Boston is true. I may be wrong in my guess, but I feel certain that Johnny Newall of Pittsburgh gave the big fellow some excellent advice on this subject while Sully was a guest of his house last spring. Newall is far and away the richest fighter in the world today. I am told that he is worth almost a million of money. He began his career in one of the mills of Pittsburgh, but with his brother, Tony, he soon saw that there was more money in the saloon business than in the harder forms of toll. In his day a man of his heft who could 'do' Johnny Newall did not have to fear any one who looked like him. Johnny is now one of the solid men of Pittsburgh, and if Sullivan emulates his example, in ten years he can be worth a quarter of a million. The big fellow has faults a plepty, but he has also lots of good qualities, and I for one would like to see the good that is in him dominate the latter end of his career. So mote it be."

Duke & Wishard are said to have grown tired of their. English campaign and to contemplate returning to this country in the near future. The game is by no means an easy one on the other side, and sooner or later all foreigners get tired of it.

Jockey "Doc" Turbiville has his life insured for $10.000 with one company. His mother, who resides in this city, must have been overjoyed at her young son's win with Ogden of America's richest stake (the Futurity) last Saturday. She is at present in Butte, Mont.

The State Fair this year will surpass all others. Hundreds of stails have aiready been engaged. The track is perfect and Secretary Ed F. Smith, as usual, is fulfilling all the duties of his office in a way thoroughly satisfactory to the association and the public.

Bernard Wefers is now training at Travers Island with a view of making an attempt to lower all records up to 440 yards. He is now the holder of the records for 100, 220 and 300 yards, and is confident he can lower his own figures. He may also try for the quarter-mile record.

"Tom" O'Rourke, the enterprising manager of boxing shows, has arranged for a bout between Sharkey, the sailor boxer, and John L. Sullivan, to take place in Madison Square Garden on August 31. To see them in the ring will be like a look back at the certain past and a glance into the possible future of pugilism. Who can tell what may be in store for Sharkey?

Capt. James Rees has accepted the position of presiding judge at the coming great Pacific Coast Jockey meeting at Ingleside, and J. W. Wilson of Sacramento will be associate judge at the same place. All the crack eastern runners seem to be on the verge of professionalism. Conneff will willingly join the "pros" for his races against Bacon, the English champion. Barney Wefers, the crack sprinter of Georgetown University, is being hauled over the coals by the A.A.U. for competing at a meet where professionals ran, and Charles Kilpatrick, holder of the world's halfmile record, is in the same boat. The prospects are good for the State Agricultural Society getting considerable more than $17,000 out of their betting privileges. It is pretty well settled that George Rose will have two books on, while Joe Rose, Billy Beverly, Johnny Coleman, Fitzgerald and Wallace are expected to go on. Then there will be the field book. That will fetch $200 a day, at least. The auction pools ought to bring the association a revenue of $200 per day easily enough. This would total up $18,700, counting seven books exclusive of the "field."

Premature Counting of Chickens. GEO, J. HICKEY. THE MAN AND THE CAUSE.

The Tariff Issue Rapidly Coming to the Front.

All California's Products and Industries Want Protection.

Man More Interested in the Sub-ject Than the Workman-When Capital is Idle the Laborer is

(New York Mail and Express:) The people know William McKinley. They know that he is honest, competent and trustworthy. They have watched his course for thirty years. They know that he was a brave soldier, and won for his valor the plaudits of all his superiors. They are familiar with his periors. They are familiar with his record of fourteen years in Congress, during which he stamped his impress on every important piece of legislation, until finally, as leader of his party on the floor, he gave his name to the fairest and best tariff bill ever en-acted by Congress, under which the people were prosperous and happy.

The Issues.

(Scranton Tribune:) The tariff is the biggest issue, because in a wrong solution of that problem the currency question took root as a source of perplexity and mischlef. But temporarily the money question occupies the middle of the forum, simply because on that subject there is less knowledge among the people than there is concerning the tariff. Before this campaign shall end, however, these relative positions will undoubtedly have been reversed; because before that time the people will have realized the utter fatuity and futility of the free-silver cry as an instrument for the betterment of business conditions. The Issues.

(San Bernardino Times-Index.) It grows more apparent daily that before the end of the campaign the tariff will be generally recognized as the leading issue. The more the free-silver issue is discussed the stronger grows the conviction—even among its advocates—that it will not mitigate the evils under which the industrial interests of the country suffer, when it is coupled with free trade.

Clay for Protection.

(San Jacinto Register:) Henry Clay said "Protection is the American policy." The American people, disgusted and depressed with the experiment of tariff for revenue only, are anxious to get back to work. They want good times. They believe busy workshops full of American workingmen, paid in good dollars, will bring prosperity. They will indorse Clay and vote for McKinley and Hobart.

Will Never Consent.

(Newark Advertiser:) Holding that the country can never be prosperous under any financial system without adequate protection in the tariff to American industry, the Republican party will never think of abandoning one inch of its ground. Welcoming allies on the free-silver question and offerig them the right hand of patriotic citizenship, Republicans will stick to their principles and pledges, and will never consent to have the great issue of tariff protection sacrificed or sidetracked or belittled to gratify the selfishness of free trade allies.

How Will They Get Wages? (San Francisco Bulletin:) The failure of Mr. Bryan to throw light upon the principal issue of the campaign is only one more error in a campaign of blunders. How are American working-men to get good wages if there are no factories open to them in the market where they must sell their labor?

Act That Kind of People.

(Albuquerque Citizen:) A free-trade contemporary says that the Republican party has never done anything to help the people. The fact is that the people have not needed help when the Republicans were in power. They always had plenty of work and could help themselves. Give the American people a chance at honest labor and fair wages and they will not be found asking help from anybody. They are not that kind of people.

The Two Cardinal Principles.

(Las Vegas Optic:) The two great cardinal principles of the Republican party in all years past have been pro-tection and bimetallism, and it is the duty of every Republican in New Mex-ico to work to the end that men rep-

Tariff as an Issue.

Tariff as an Issue.

(From Letter to New York Tribune:) Many timid Republicans take the ground that the tariff is not to be mentioned for fear of offending Democrats who would vote for McKinley. Why did the country demand that McKinley should be nominated? The present tariff had brought ruin, the country becoming bankrupt. The people cried out for a change. Leave out the tariff and tens of thousands will leave us and take up silver or any other craze that offers.

Will Find Cold Comfort. (Albuquerque Citizen:) Free silver without protection will not stop the inflow of goods manufactured by foreigners, and American workmen without food will find cold comfort in financial legislation while the bars are left down for the products of foreign labor.

Will End Panies.

(Phoenix Herald:) When the laboring men of this nation are assured of a day's work at good pay, there will be no more financial panics, financial crazes, free and unlimited silver sophistry, and mighty little show for pie-eating demagogues.

Paramount Issue

(Stockton Independent:) Protection is the paramount issue whether it is gen-erally recognized as such or not. Free silver is more discussed because Demo-crats dare not dicuss the results of their free-trade theories as reduced to practice under the Wilson bill.

(Stockton. Independent:) Protection enabled the workingman to indulge in porterhouse steak, but free trade made him gnaw a bare bone.

The Tariff Fight.

The Sugar Product.

(San José Mercury:) Mr. Bryan, in the Fiftty-third Congress, said that "It is as easy to justify a bounty as a protective tariff, and it is impossible to justify either." Yet, with proper protection against the cheap labor and bounty-paid sugar of other countries, this country could produce every pound of sugar it consumes, thus distributing $100,000,000 annually among the farmers, mechanics and workingmen of the United States, Mr. Bryan prefers that this money should be sent abroad to help the farmers, mechanics and workingmen of Eu-

Idle Capital, Idle Workmen, Idle Capital, Idle Workmen.

(Santa Cruz Sentine!) When capital is idle the workingman is idle.

Anything that will stimulate the capitalist to make investments—build machines, manufacture from the raw material and improve property—will stimulate the demand for laboring menulate the demand for laboring menulate no man owning capital is going to invest it in the cost of a campaign to change the money standard, unsettle finance, and precipitate a panic worse than any the United States has ever known.

An "American Policy."

An "American Policy."
(Seattle Post-Intelligencer:) There has been one distinctively American policy under which this country has grown and expanded in a manner which makes it the marvel of the world. That American policy is called "protection." It is singular, but true, that the shouters for an "American policy" on the subject of coinage—borrowed from Mexico—which is a radical experiment, are almost to a man bitterly hostile to the "American policy" of Republican origin, which has been a tried and well-proven success.

THE WOOL QUESTION.

FREE TRADE AND THE DECLINE OF A NATIONAL INDUSTRY.

How Mr. Cleveland's Fad Has Dam-aged One of Our Principal Re-sources for the Benefit of Aus-tralia and the Argentine Re-public.

(Portland Telegram:) The American Wool and Cotton Reporter in a recent isue, made the statement that Angoras are bred to a very limited ex-tent in the United States, and that 100,000 pounds of mohair would cover the annual domestic production. correspondent of the same paper, writing from Portland, calls attention to the extent of this industry in Oregon. The statement is made that the State numbers 200 breeders of Angora goats, whose flocks average 100 head each This would give an annual production of 100,000 pounds of mohair for Oregon alone. This mohair, with all other kinds of wool, is admitted free by the Milson law, whereas it had to pay a duty of 12 to 33 cents a pound before. The Oregon farmer knows which party will be most likely to accord him protection from foreign competition.

A Poor Prophet .

It (the sheep industry) has existed and will exist, independent of any tariff legislation.—(Hon, William J.

Bryan.
This was Mr. Bryan's view at the time he was advocating the free-wool clause of the Wilson bill. It is not necessary to tell the people of this county, how poor a prophet he was. The records of the insolvency courts tell the story .- (Kern County Echo.

What Wilson Did.

(San Francisco Call:) The repeal of the McKinley act permitted German and English makers of woolen goods to increase their sales in this country by considerably over $40,000,000 a year.

A Michigan View.

A Michigan View.

"Speaking for myself, it is immaterial in my opinion, whether the sheep grower receives any benefit from the tariff or not. I am for free wool."—(W. J. Bryan, in a speech in the second session of the Fifty-third Congress.

In his effort to remove the last vestige of protection from farm products during the preparation of the Wilson bill, it is quite evident that it was immaterial whether the farmer had more than one meal of vituals a day or not; he was for free trade. Republicans, he is the man who proposes to recompense you for all your losses in 53-cent dollars, if you will vote for him.—(The Ypsilantian.

A Free Trade Frenk.

A Free Trade Freak.

(San Francisco Bulletin:) One of the unaccountable vagaries of the party of free trade was the selection of wool as an article to experiment upon. Although we were producing about three-fourths of the wool consumed in our factories, wool was put on the free list with tea and coffee, which we do not produce at all. Wool was not even given the rate of protection that a tariff for revenue only would afford. It was put absolutely on a free-trade basis. It will be observed that in Bryan's New York speech not a word was said about the tariff. Congress might be called together early in 1897 to pass a free-silver colnage bill, the candidate said, but not a word did he say about a revision of the tariff, which would supply the needed revenue and supply the needed revenue and place American wool-growers on equality, so far as duties go, with other in dustries. It will be for the American people to say if a man with a sing idea is a safe man to be elected Pre-ident,

American Wool and Free Trade.

(Santa Fé New Mexican:) Following the announcement of the failure of Henry M. Hosick, the big wool merchant of Chicago, with a branch house in Albuquerque, attachments were at once issued to be served against the sheep of the said Hosick, numbering between 6000 and 7000, located at and near Buffalo Springs ranch, about fifty miles east of Albuquerque. W. A. Skinner, manager of the local wool house; J. R. Armijo and E. L. Medler, the new receiver, had the attachments issued, aggregating several thousand dollars. These papers were placed in the hands of Sheriff Hubbell, who sent Deputy Sheriffs Charles Hubbell and Charles Springer out to Buffalo Springs to serve the papers. The failure of Mr. Hosick will undoubtedly close the Albuquerque house. American Wool and Free Trade.

A Boomerang Orator.

(Albuquerque Citizen:) Sheep-raiserare beginning to see that free-silver coinage would not increase the demand for wool, but that the opening of wooler for wool, but that the opening of woolen factories under proper protection would not only increase the demand, but very materially advance wool values. Had Mr. Bryan known what a boomerang he was casting forth when he declared. "I am for free wool," he probably would have been a little more circumspect, but his record on the tariff question is being distributed pretty freely in all the States, and the woolproducers of the West are not the only silver men who are deserting his flag.

A Contracted Market.

(Bakersfield Californian:) Instead of widening the market for American manufacturers, the Wilson law has narrowed it, and the imports of manufactures of wool for the fiscal year closing June 30, 1896, are 46 per cent. larger than last year, and the latter (1895) were 24 per cent. larger than the imports of woolen for the last year of the McKinley law. The increase alone in the imports of woolens since the repeal of the McKinley law represents a quantity of woolen goods which, if made in American of American wool, would have absorbed more than is now annually raised if the United States. This is the way the tariff law which the Hon. William J. Bryan supported has narrowed our home market, destroying the only customer that the American woolgrower ever had.

TORRES (Mex., Aug. 23.—(Special Dispatch.) The Mexican auare on the alert fearful of a Yaqui uprising. They have just been apprised that about four hun-dred Yaquis, laborers on the haclendas above Hermosillo, have disappeared. Their families are about as usual. This is due to a revolutionary movement without doubt, and is probably a continuation of the Nogales affair. Every precaution is being taken. Last night an Indian was captured at Hermosillo with 100 cartridges. Unless he accounts for them better than he has so far he will probably be executed. Americans are now fearful of traveling far from settlements alone, fearing revenge for the part taken by Americans at the Nogales affray.

Oldham was convicted of robbery last year, one month after the commission of the crime. He was sentenced to twelve years in Folsom. The Supreme Court granted a new trial on technicalities. FRESNO, Aug. 23.—At Firebaugh this morning Humsindo Alano shot and instantly killed Andrew Martinez, both Mexicans. Alano was practicing with his revolver in a saloon, and as Martinez entered he was killed. Alano claimed it was accidental, but the people of the village thought not and attempted to lynch Alano, who conceaded himself in a cellar until officers arrived from Fresno and hurried him away.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Col. Leonidas Yeargan, an ex-Confederate soldier, has miysteriously disappeared in this city, and his daughter, Miss Praise Yeargan of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and L. D. Yeargan, her cousin, also of Tennessee, are here looking for him. Col. Yeargan was a salesman for an ink house, and traveled in the South. When here he was a familiar figure at the Astor House. His daughter came here to visit him, but he was not at the station to meet her. It is thought that he is temporarily deranged, and that designing persons are holding him with the idea of getting meney from him. Several checks presented lately at the Mechanics' National Bank signed by the colonel lend color to, this surmise, as rough men and boys have presented the checks.

The French Government Perfecting Details-America Not Represented.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.— The French government is rapidly perfecting details for the International Exposition to be held in Paris in 1900 commemorating the birth of the center of the control of the center of the control of the center of the ce tury, and in this connection has asked the State Department for the name of the commissioner-general who will represent the United States and for the State Department for the name of the commissioner-general who will represent the United States and for such other information available as to the participation of this country. To this Acting Secretary Rockhill has repiled that the commissioner-general has not been named, as the American representation to provide for American representation at the exposition. He expressed the bellef, however, that the approaching session of Congress will bring about an acceptance of the invitation of the French republic.

President Cleveland called the attention of Congress to the invitation in his annual message last December, and expressed the most earnest hope that steps would be taken for an adequate representation by the United States. But Congress acts slowly on these affairs, and no measure was considered, the idea being that there was plenty of time before 1900. It appears, however, that Great Britain, Germany and other leading powers have been quick to accept, and the French government is allotting space to these countries. American exhibitors are beginning to make inquiry as to where their goods will go, but no answer can be given them. The prospect is that the best space will be taken before the United States accepts the invitation and makes application for space. This was the case at the last exposition, when American exhibitors were at much disadvantage in point of location.

It is expected in official circles that when Congress meets it will provide for a commissioner-general and an assistant. This was the case with the last French exposition, when Gen. Franklin was commissioner-general at a salary of $10,000, and the assistant commissioner received $5000. The opinion prevalls that as the appointment even though Congress passes the act before March 4, next. Aside from the direct emoluments attanced to the offices, a fund is provided for office and living expenses. In the case of Gen. Franklin, the French government conferred on him the exceptional honor of the cross of the Legion of Honor, while the assistant HAVANA (Cuba.) Aug. 22, via Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 23.—The crew of the Competitor and other American prisoners confined in the Spanish fortress Cabanas here are being badly cared for. Soup and potatoes is their only food, and is supplied to them twice a day by the military authorities. All prisoners are sadly emaciated, and today they are mere skeletons. With their ghastly features and sunken, glassy eyes, they despatringly look out on their unfrequent visitors from their damp, dark, foul-smelling, coffin-like cells through iron-barred jail doors in mute appeal.

A Spanish sergeant who visited Cabanas yesterday said today that one of the Competitor's men could not speak above a whisper and that others are sugering from dysentery in a choleric form. They told the sergeant that they had lost all hope in the Washington government obtaining their release, and had consequently addressed, as a last resort, an appeal to the Queen Regent Maria Christina for mercy.

the Queen Regent Maria Christina for mercy.

Before Gen. Weyler's orders forbidding Americans, and even the United States Consul to enter the fort, the prisoners were enabled to purchase necessities from funds contributed by friendly visitors. These are now stopped, and, in consequence, their suffering is greater than before.

Despite the repeated demands of the United States government made through Consul-General Lee, and oft-repeated promises to have these prisoners transferred to healthler and less-crowded quarters, they remain huddled together with Spanish thieves. There are twenty-five in a single narrow room and along the floor of this room runs an open sewer, impregnating the room with a fearful stench, which is alone sufficient to breed cholera. And worse, a leper, recently arrested as a political suspect, is now confined with them. Other prisoners suffering from smallpox are also there.

FLED FOR THEIR LIVES.

HAVANA, Aug. 23.—Col. Tort, learning that the insurgents were encamped in the vicinity of Gomez in the province of Matanzas, ordered a cavalry charge on the part of the Spanish. The result, according to official advices, was a decisive victory over the insurgents. The Cubans were compelled to fly for their lives. They left nineteen dead on the field, including Dr. Bacallao, and Layer Gavilin. Two prisoners and a large quantity of ammunition were captured. According to official advices received here, 188 insurgents were wounded at the recent engagement at Bayamo.

Capt.-Gen. Weyler is about to issue a decree placing certain limitations and prohibitions upon the next sugar and coffee crops. By this plan he hopes to deprive the insurgents of their resources and bring the planters to the support of Spain. Capt.-Gen. Weyler also announces his intention as seon as reinforcements arrive from Spain to concentrate his forces and sweep the island from end to end. By this means he hopes to speedily put and end to the present insurrections.

Reports have been received to the effect that the band of the leader Zarraga had attacked an exploring train in the province of Pinar del Rio. Twelve soldiers were wounded. Yesterday, the insurgents attacked Fort Las Mangas. The insurgents were repulsed, but two of the members of the garrison were wounded. months between several nigh officers. The climax came July 22, when the head quartermaster spoke rather plainly to the president. Col. Mandalay, acting secretary of war, resented this and drew his revolver supposedly to avenge the insult to his chief. The quartermaster also had supporters and for the instant bloodshed seemed inevitable. But the venerable president, aided by the cooles heads present, quickly restored a semblance of peace.

The old gentleman's feelings, however, were deeply wounded, and he immediately announced his resignation. All that night the provisional government was in great danger of ignominious dissolution, but the next morning all complaints were heard. Differences were adjusted and President Cisneros withdrew his resignation. Trouble is over, for the present at least and the wheels of the government are running smoothly."

FORGETFULNESS OR WHAT?

If ever a public man, running for the second office within the gift of the people, was treated like a poor boy at a frolic, it was Arthur Sewall at the Madison Square rodeo in New York. He was as regularly and legitimately nominated on the Democratic ticket as was Mr. Bryan himself, but none of the New York State Central Committee went out to meet him, nor had young Mr. Bryan the courtesy to mention him, even in the remotest manner. Commenting upon this omission, the New York Press says:

"Is it the beginning of the end, was it forgetfulness on the part of the Democratic campaign managers that Arthur Sewall, the second man on their national ticket, came to New York meet him? There have been times when a mere Tammany boss has been greeted admiring hundreds and a brass band at his home coming. But yesterday the candidate of the party for the Vice-Presidency arrived unnoticed, and the reporters would have remained at his hotel unvisited."

To the best of our belief, it was partly 'ignorance and partly a want of good breeding. The New York managers of Mr. Bryan's interest displayed a great deal of the former in allowing that gentleman to speak at all while fatigued with the effects of a journey through the hottest weather known in that region during this century, if the number of deaths from heat is any criterion. Their ignorance was further displayed in letting him read an address, instead of speaking ex tempore, to an audience larger than ever greeted Clay, Webster or Benton. Last of all, they showed their mingled ignorance and want of good breeding by neglecting to invite Mr Watson upon whose friends they had to rely for proper support of Mr. Bryan in at least fourteen States. Joe Howard was right when he wrote "I am sorry for the boy orator. His friends should have cared for him more intelligently."

WHERE ARE THEY "AT?"

The San Diego Tribune rises up in its place and seizes the speaker's eye and remarks: and remarks:

"The Tribune joins in the demand of the Los Angeles Times, 'What alls our Republican State Central Committee?' Two months have passed since the St. Louis convention, and aside from a few fizzing 'ratification' meetings there has not been a sign of life among Republicans, except in the press. The committee is no doubt at work, but it moves in a mysterious way its wonders to perform. Get out into the daylight."

If the committee is composed of able statesmen and "smart politicians," as they would have the world believe, let them pull themselves together and do something. The season is ripe; the occasion propitious; let no private, local, Senatorial or legislative ambitions or nimosities on the part of the members stand in the way of the success of the great national cause.

OLD PEOPLE IN THE OLD WORLD A statistician in Germany has been studying the figures of the latest census of European countries, for the purpose of investigating the proportion of the population which has passed the century mark. The result of his investigation is quite interesting. Among other things, he found, as might have been expected, that the highest degree of civilization does not favor the greatest length of life. For instance, in the German Empire, with a population of 55,000,000, there are but 78 persons who have passed age of 100 years. On the other hand, France, with fewer than 40,000,000, has 213 persons, England has 146, Ireland 578, Scotland 46, Denmark 2, Belgium 5. Sweden 10, and Norway, with 2,000, 000 inhabitants, 23. Switzerland does not boast a single centenarian, but Spain, with about 18,000,000 population,

The most prolific section of centenarians was found by this investigator in the southeastern part of Europe, where civilization has made comparatively little progress. Servia has 575 persons who are more than 100 years old, Roumania 1084, and Bulgaria 3383; that is to say, supposing these figures to be correct, Bulgaria has a centenarian to every thousand inhabitants. It is extremely doubtful whether this showing can be duplicated in any other section of the world. It is said that in the report of the year 1892 alone, there died in Bulgaria 350 persons of more than 100 years of age, and in that section a person is not regarded as being extremely old until he is past 100 years. In Servia the ages of three of the oldest persons were given as between 135 and 140 years.

According to this German scientist. the oldest man in the world is Bruno Cotrim, a negro born in Africa, and a resident of Rio Janeiro, who has attained the remarkable age of 150 years.

The chief value of this investigation is in showing, as above stated, that a high degree of civilization and extreme age do not, as a rule, go together. There are, of course, numerous exceptions to this, in cases where men and women have exceptionally vigorous constitutions, or take specially good care of themselves, but these exceptions only go to prove the rule. The worry and tear of the modern struggle for existence; the irregular life led nowadays by a majority of city residents, and even by many of the farming population, do not conduce to ongevity. Southern California, with its pure dry air, should be as prolific in centenarians as any part of the world. It was so, in fact, as long as without even a sergeant-at-arms to the inhabitants led a simple pastoral the Wilson tariff was before Congress. life, spending most of their time in the open air and living on plain diet. Among the aboriginal Indians and the early Mexican residents of Southern California centenarians were quite common. Senor Garcia, of this city, who has long passed the century mark is a good example of the vigorous old age attained by many of the earlier inhabitants of Southern California. There is no reason why many Americans should not reach and pass the century mark in Southern California. provided they lead natural lives, and give the "glorious climate" a chance to do its perfect work. With a regular mode of living, temperance in eating and drinking, plenty of fresh air, and above all, the avoidance of worry there is no reason why centenarians should not be as common in Southern California as they appear to be in the southeast of Europe.

THE PROHIBITION VOTE.

The Chicago Inter Ocean of late date contains a short item of interest, and especially so to those of the Prohibition party. The paragraph reads:

"The Prohibitionists of Montgomery county met here today and decided not to put a ticket in the field for county officers. There are nearly two hun-dred of them, and nearly all will vote the Republican ticket from President

This is in line with the statement made by Dr. Herrick Johnson in his letter to Dr. Henry M. Fields of the New York Evangelist, mention of which was made at the time in this let him get hold of the Philippine Islpaper. Dr. Johnson in his letter drew attention to the one thing necessary this year and which was to defeat the candidate who represented the Chicago platform, in order that the honor and dignity of the country might be sustained; and to the more effectual accomplishment of this he advised all Prohibitionists to do as he was going to do-vote for McKinley.

The proper badge for a free-silverite to wear is a dollar cut in half.

FANTASTIC NONSENSE.

The advocates of free and unrestricted silver coinage are putting forth the specious plea that if their plans were carried into execution we should need no tariff protection. They declare that we should practically cease to with Europe, and that our trade would be almost wholly with the silverbasis nations-China, Japan, India and Mexico. This picture is not, in itself an alluring one, and even if results see where the benefit to the United States would come in.

As one of the silverite enthusiasts expresses it, "High protectionists might lesire such a result, for the wall the change would erect between Europe and America would be more impassable than any that a McKinley tariff could create." Therefore, it is argued, we could go upon a free-trade basis, practically, and still enjoy the benefits of

The logic of this theory is on a par with that of others from the same source. It proceeds from the same sort of intellectual strabismus as does the theory that by some mysterious hocuspocus something can be evolved from nothing. The fantastic contention that we can at one and the same time enjoy the benefits of protection and free trade is entirely worthy of the bewhiskered statesmen who have given it birth. It is a new dispensation of the gospel, at once original and startling. After this, we have a perfect right to expect that some Populist statesman will in the near future solve the worldold problem of two railway trains pass ing each other on the same track without colliding.

Suppose it were true? Suppose we were to shut Europe out from our mar-kets by cutting our dollars in two? Suppose we had at the same time free trade with China, India, Japan and the other silver-basis nations? Under such beatific conditions, where would our revenue come from? With no imports coming into our ports from Europe, and those which came from the silver-basis countries paying no duties, how could the government get the income r to pay running expenses except by resorting to direct taxation? There would be no other recourse.

Populist statesmen would probably have no difficulty in settling this matter, however, to their intense and entire satisfaction. It would only be necessary to tax every "plutocrat" heavily for the privilege of being on the face of the earth, and the problem would e solved. Or, the government might set the paper-mills and the printinggrinding out flat money, and thus settle the question with even less difficulty. The resources of Populist statesmanship are practically inexhaus tible, and no barrier would be regarded

Cecil Holcomb, police judge of the city of Portland, Or., has been interviewed by the Examiner and gives it as his opinion that Oregon will go for Bryan and free silver because Jonathan Bourne, who was secretary of the Republican State Central Committee of that State, has come out for Bryan and free silver. Thats no criterion, whatever. The State of Oregon is, in proportion to her population, the largest wool-producing State in the Union. In 1880 the Democrats carried the counties of Union, Baker, Grant, Umatilla, Curry, Josephine, Jackson, Linn and Lake In 1888 Benjamin Harrison carried every one of those counties except Umatilla and Jackson, both of which gave over 350 majority in 1880 and less than 60 in 1888. It was free wool that made this reversal of public opinion at the ballot-box. Does any sane man mean to tell us that the men who supported Benjamin Harrison will at this crisis in national affairs repudiate William McKinley? Mr. Wilson, of tariff notoriety, has evidently crawled into his hole and drawn the hole in after him, for he could not be more out of sight except to be dead. But Bryan, who is the nominee of the same party for President, fairly out-Heroded Herod when He said: "I think that the duties all the way through this bill are higher than necessary, and I favor the bill. not because of its perfection, not because the duties are brought down as low as they might be, but because the bill is infinitely better than the law which we now have and is a step in the right direction." Now will any person give us a good and valid reason why one of these men should be retired to private life and the other elected President?

A favorite argument advanced by the free-silverites is that it would be a good thing for the United States to adopt free-silver coinage so as to-facilitate trade with the South Amrican countries and those of Asia which are on a silver basis. This is one of those propositions, abounding in plausibility, which the free-silver men love to pro claim. A little investigation of the subject is sufficient, however, to prick the bubble. For instance: The total exports of the United States for the year ended June 30, 1895, were, in value, $793,392,599. Of this total amount $754,672,979 went to goldstandard countries, and only the paltry sum (by comparison) of $38,719,620 to free-silver countries.

Before Spain talks about declaring war against the United States, growing out of her troubles in Cuba, she may have to measure swords with Japan. The little brown man is very bellicose, and he is likewise very industrious. Once ands and he will turn out enough canned pineapples to supply all the world and his mother-in-law. Those islands turn out spices of a very high grade, while the newly-acquired island of Formosa produces colong teas of excellent quality. The Jap does not intend to let China sell anything that he keeps on hand himself.

Chicago is again torn up by a strike which has affected nearly every build-selves, out of employment. The Bryan ble for this condition of things, but that it is materially affected by the disturbing demagogy of the free-coinage leaders we may well be sure. The elec tion of Maj. McKinley will restore confidence and prove conducive to the peace and happiness of toilers and employers alike. Speed the day of elec-

Mr. Bryan continues to voice his financial heresies to the hundreds who rush to railway stations as he passes through the country, those hundreds going to view the candidate with the same sort of curiosity that they would clamber over each other to see a white elephant or a three-headed calf. His fallacies have been so completely exploded by the advocates of sound money that the candidate has no longer drawing capacity other than as a mere curiosity. He is no longer a factor in the coming election. His dismal failure at Madison Square Garden settled his hash completely.

The New York Tribune very neatly trips up Mr. Bryan on his assertion that railroad rates have not been reduced to keep pace with falling prices. The Tribune says: "In 1872 it cost 33.5 cents to take a bushel of wheat from Chicago to the seaboard by rail, and in 1895 it cost 12.17 cents. Even Mr. Bryan will not assert that average prices are less than half and only a little more a third of what they were in 1872. How a mere fact will overthrow a whirlwind of eloquence!

The political parson is not exactly person with whom sensible men care to affiliate or for whose utterances they have much respect. One of these is the Rev. Thomas Urzell of Denver, who, in referring to some statement made by an adversary, said "That's the biggest lie ever told by any man out of If clergymen wish the ordinary hell." run of people to respect the learned profession they have espoused, they should not mar its sanctity by the use of language fitting no place but a cockpit or a boozing-den.

It is said that the Mayor of Oakland has been reading Byron at that place where the hero of Missolonghi writes:

"The word the Hebrews call 'I am,'
The English use to govern d—n;
And it is further said that the chief executive officer of the City of Churches has been interpolating the "Big," Big D" into his conversation. It would be quite Pinaforial to reduce this profane magistrate to private citizenship and elevate to the mayoralty the man at whom he swore.

Any disturbance, financial or other ort, which hits the employer of labor is disastrous to the employee. If manufacturers and other producers cannot get money to do business with workingmen are going to lose their jobs; hence every salaried man, no matter what his occupation, who is looking out for No. 1, will be dead against free silver. This is a plain proposition that cannot be successfully denied.

Mr. Bryan says he expects that before the campaign closes he will have the support of all Democrats except those whose pecuniary interests will be advanced by his defeat. If this were to be the test, Mr. Bryan would get no votes, for the pecuniary interests of all Democrats, no less than those of all Republicans-and, in fact, the interests of every man, woman and child in the United States-will be advanced by his defeat.

There was a time when papers like est orators of modern times." Dr. P. Maj. McKinley continues to make plain talks of sound sense to the thousands who visit him at his modes American home in Canton and to make votes by the tens of thousands. There is no fustian nor bombast in the homely talks of the great Ohio commoner, but they are meaty and to the point every time. The reason is that the sense and meat is on the Major's side of the question.

A circus is shortly coming to town but when we have one in our City Council all the year round, assisted by our ringmaster Mayor, (the same Council that voted for Mr. Huntington's harbor steal under the direction of the Mayor's two-bit clerk, by the way,) another one would seem to be as superfluous as a Popocratic ticket with two tails. If we can arbitrarily fix the ratio of gold and silver at 16 to 1, why cannot we fix it at 1 to 1? If the commercial value of the two metals has nothing to do with the case, then the latter coinage ratio is just as easily fixed as the higher one. 'Rah for free coinage 1 to 1!

If we can arbitrarily say that 50 cents' worth of silver is a dollar, we can as consistently say that a yard of calico is worth a dollar. If we are going to legislate for the silver miners. why not do a little legislating for the people who grow cotton?

There is no lack of money in the country, but there is a tremendous lack of work brought about by free trade or its equivalent. Let us have a tariff for protection and money will become as plenty as it was in 1892.

What a beautiful city Los Angeles might be made if we could have a systematic planting of shade trees on the business as well as residence thoroughfares. Instead of the streets being aglare with sun and heat, they should be arched with the shade of trees to the beautifying of the landscape and to the comfort of the populace. Why cannot we have an arbor day?

The roads of Southern California continue, with a few notable exceptions, to be about the worst on the face of the broad earth. Here we are within six-teen or seventeen miles of the ocean, but the man who undertakes to reach the beach by wheel or buggy takes his life in his hand by jeopardizing his liver or a highly valuable blood vessel. Isn't it about time that long-promised campaign for good roads commenced in

The loss of Col. Bob Northam's glittering uniform by the burning of his country residence is a disaster particularly hard to bear. The matter of a lost house, plano and other property, personal and mixed, could be borne with Christian fortitude, but the consumption of the uniform of a colonel in the militia is a holocaust indeed. Informa tion reaches this office by special mes-senger that Col. Bob saved his highly ornate cap, which, in a measure, tempers the blow.

It is not improbable that the Los Angeles County Jail is in as healthy condition as any like institution in the State. Three years ago the building was inspected by a sanitary engineer and plumbed in accordance with his recommendations and the requirements of an ordinance of this city. This work was done at a cost of over $500, and was inspected by the city before being accepted by the Board of Supervisors. Three years is a very short life for plumbing work, yet the board is now expending about $500 in having the old work overhauled and in making new and necessary additions and improvements.

The situation in the local oil field remains practically unchanged. The surplus is being gradually reduced, but the market remains at the old quota-Oil developers claim the sand at the west end of the field is "pinchg" out, having receded from a depth of 125 feet to 80 feet. The Oil Exchange is still making an effort to survive the vicissitudes of the last ten months. Its headquarters in the Bradbury Block were surrendered several weeks, but it appears an effort to keep it alive will be made. A meeting of old members was held at the corner of Temple and Metcalf streets last week, and a more interesting session is promised for next Saturday, at which time new officers will be elected Arrange-ments will also be made for selling the exchange property, consisting of pump-ing plant and tankage aggregating 3500 barrels. There is still considerable drilling activity in the field.

During the past week there have been no new developments in the lo-cal oil field of especial interest. A large number of new wells are nearing ompletion, but no plans for continu development have ben formulated. Maier & Zobelein have uncovered a continuation of the oil stratum at the east end of the field, nearly threequarters of a mile eastward of any present producing well. The result of further explorations in this new territory is awaited with misgivings.

The developers operating at the west end of the district report considerable water as having been encountered. The Green well is the farthest vestward. In a conversation with Mr westward. In a conversation with Mr. Green Saturday, he informed a Times reporter that he had contemplated further drilling in this locality, but had now changed his mind, he also stated that the sand was pinching out rapidly. At te south line of First street the sand was about one hundred and twenty-five feet in thickness, while at the present farthest limits of the district, 400 feet distant, the sand has pinched out till the stratum was less than eighty feet in depth or thickness.

The oil field is no longer troubled with water in the vicinity of the Bosley pumping plant. Six wells were flooded last week, but the plugging of a well that has been deepened to 1000 feet capped the water vein and removed all difficulties.

At next Saturday's meeting of the Oil Exchange members on Metcalf street, arrangements will be made looking to the sale of the exchange's pumping plant and tank on Banning street. Three tanks on Buena Vista street will also be sold. They have a capacity of $3500 barrels.

The sand in this locality has been pretty heavily drilled, the Transfer Company's wells being located upon adjoining lots, and a network of drill holes surrounding it on all sides. Workmen have drilled around a lost string of tools, in the Alderson well, on the south side of Court street, near Toluca. Nine strings of tools are clinging to the bottom of drill holes in this locality—on the west side of Toluca street, between Court and West State streets.

The drilling machinery is being removed from the People's new oil well. The property is a moderate producer. One of the Miller wells, at the southwest corner of Court and Ohlo streets, is being deepened. The Miller properties have a reputation among oil men of being among the very best producers in the field.

The drillers will soon reach the tubing stage in the new Harrison well, on the west side of Figueroa street, between Temple and Court streets.

The Stewart well is not yet finished. A depth of 900 feet has been reached, and the pump will be put in at a depth of about one thousand feet.

Hoffman & Weller have succeeded in effectually plugging their well on the Bannister property. About two hundred feet of lead, iron, cement and other like material was put in before the flow was overcome. Six wells immediately south were flooded, but a well a few feet north received no injury. were put at work deepening it. From a depth of 868 feet the drill was sent down to nearly one thousand feet, where a heavy water vein was tapped. This property has been something of a mystery since it was first opened. Oil was not expected in any quantity above 900 feet, yet at a depth of 863 feet the drill suddenly dropped into an oil hole, or crevice, six feet deep, and the oil rushed into the drill hole, filling it within 200 feet of the top. The well produced heavily for several months, and finally became a dry hole. Weller's residence is no longer a conspicuous landmark among the forest of dericks on Figueroa street. It has been removed to Angeleño Heights, and broken stone walls and a melancholy lawn are the only reminders of a once beautiful home in this oil-begrimed seat of industrial activity.

GOLDEN DISCOURSE.

Rev. S. A. Thomson Preaches a Political Sermon.

Character Should be Every Man's First Concern.

Keep Politics Out of Religion, but Take Religion into Politics—The First Step in Christian Living— The Home of God.

"Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things which are God's." Such was the text of an excellent sermon preached last evening at Vincent Methodist Church, by Rev. S. A. Thomson, a minister who believes in practical Christianity to the extent of his sermons with the vital Issues of the day.

Mr. Thomson began by saying that, although political issues were usually discussed in the pulpit, agreed with the view adopted by the entire religious press of the country, religious press of the country, was right to bring into the entire religious press of the country, that it was right to bring into the churches the grave moral questions now at issue in this campaign. The discussion of these was then begun by the speaker with a vigorous scorching of the Populist platform adopted at the Chicago convention, as compared with the St. Louis platform of the Republicans. The Chicago conglomeration was characterized as upholding State's rights; countenancing anarchy and riot; intimidating and threatening courts and officers for doing their duty; menacing the overthrow of the civil service reform, and the reëstablishment of the despicable spoils system, and as looking toward the substitution of a debased and dishonest currency for the sound and honorable coin of the realm.

Mr. Thomson then spoke of the wide extent and great resources of the country, insisting that, with all its natural advantages, there was no necessity for the hard times which prevailed. ural advantages, there was no neces-sity for the hard times which prevailed.

uted it to a lack of circulating fredium per capita, but statistics show that there is more today than ever before.
Others blame the banks, but the speaker could remember a time when there were more banks in proportion to the population; and none of them could be trusted. The notes issued in one State were likely to be refused in another, and too often they were no good anywhere. In these days, bank notes are good all over the country. Still others blamed the demogetization of silver in 1873, but the absymity of this theory, was self-evident, in view of the prosperity that has prevailed since.
In giving the well-known history of the "crime of "3," the speaker found some difficulty in locating the alleged "crime," inasmuch as Stewart and Jones, as well as other silverites, show by their own speeches, made at the time, that they not only knew all about it, but themselves advocated the gold standard. As to the present hard times, Mr. Thomson was of the opinion that the act of '73 was a very flimsy pretext for a cause when compared with such real and sufficient causes as the extrav-

the act of '73 was a very filmsy pretext for a cause when compared with such real and sufficient causes as the extravagant living of the American people in the last twenty years, and the reckless speculation and discounting of the future which has prevailed everywhere in the country, and especially in the West. This was followed by the inevitable reaction, and here was a potent and sufficient cause for the hard times. From 1888 to 1893, prosperity prevailed in all quarters. Then came the panic of 1893, and now men have the assurance to insult the intelligence of the people by gravely ascribing it to the demonetization of silver twenty years before. The real cause of the prevailing uncertainty and depression, Mr. Thomson ascribed to the discussion in both Senate and House of Representatives of the ascribed to the discussion in both Senate and House of Representatives of the silver question, with the prospect of establishing the free and unlimited coinage of silver; and of free trade under the Wilson bill, which has shut down immense industries, canceled large contracts with foreign countries and thrown thousands of men out of work by the closing of mills and manufactories.

The street-corner politicians emitted closing of mills and manufactories.

The street-corner politicians emitted the universal howl of "free silver" as the remedy for all these evils, but all the legislation in favor of siver has so far failed to put up the price of that metal, and establish it upon a firm monetary and commercial basis. The act passed by Congress in 1878, whereby an immense amount of silver was purchased by the government, was expected to raise the price of buillion, but failed miserably. The so-called Sherman act, whereby the purchase of $4,500,000 worth of silver was ordered as a compromise measure to prevent free coinage long enough at least to try the results of a flood of silver also failed to raise the flood of silver, also failed to raise the price, which still declined steadily in obedience to the natural law of supply and demand, owing to the glutting of the markets.

The history of all money ,at all times money always drives good money out of circulation and into hiding. The only reason that the present silver dollar maintains its standing is that it happens to be Uncle Sam's dollar, with all his mighty credit behind it. The dollar of an individual, manufactured under the free-coinage law, would dare very differently with the people.

Mr. Thomson illustrated this point with a review of the history of Rhode Island greenbacks, the savage fight made to get the currency of the State inflated by this means and the still more desperate struggle to make it pas as a debt-paying medium. Creditors absolutely refused to accept the stuff in payment of the obligations due them. Another law was passed, making it a finable offense to refuse the paper currency, but the merchants and tradescurrency, but the merchants and tradesmen were still on top, for they simply refused to sell goods which would be paid for in the despised currency. At last, a test case was made, and five judges declared the law unconstitutional. Their heads were lopped off by the Legislature, but still the money kept going down. It had reached a ratio of 15 to 1, in the fact that it took $15 of Rhode Island money to equal $1. $15 of Rhode Island money to equal $1 in any other State, and men carried it about in sacks and pillow-cases, when posed payment, in a debased currency of the men who saved the nation in its hour of need. It is not free silver, the country wants, it is men. In spite of the senseless ranting of men who do not know the A.B.C. of finance, the people will awaken to the right. The nation has good money now, and, by the grace of God and the intelligence of the American people, it means to keep it.

The pastor, Rev. Warren F. Day, D.D., preached on "Character Our First Concern," taking as his text Philippians iv, 8. He said in part: The artist's effort is to idealize, and he succeeds as he presents an ideal form on canvas or marble.

The Christian's effort is to realize the ideal in himself, or waken it in others. To do this we must make that our foremost concern which is of most others. To do this we must make that our foremost concern which is of most vital importance, and our most distinguishing mark. Our boddes, our employments and that which goes on in the busy lives around us each say to us, "In me is your first concern." In all these we have deep interest, but we press home the propsition to every thinking man and woman that character is our foremost concern. We prove this true in several particulars.

Our character is the clew to all that are, for weal or woe, what our characters are, for that stays when all else has gone.

Our character is the clue to all that relates to us in this life or the next. Back of all our circumstances is the law in oursefves which determines what these shall do for us. The grape and the thistle turn all that comes into their life currents each into its own likeness.

In our character is the shaping of our influence. We are consciously or unconsciously helping to mold the lives around us by our very personality, and this makes life a serious matter. We cannot be one thing and a power for that which is the moral opposite. What a man really believes prevalls over what he thinks he believes. ur foremost concern which is of mos prevails over what he thinks he be

The strength of a nation is in the strength of its character, and the strength of national character lies in the aggregate of the individual char acter of its people. Greece and Rome both illustrate this fact. While there were enough noble citizens to mold laws and public opinion by their in-telligence and conscience, the States rose to greatness. It was only after the decay of individual character that the state tottered and fell because of the lack of manly strength and virtue in its people. We have one character, one fundamental, eternal type of being. Knowing that "we can pass this way but once," how keenly we ought to realize the importance of cultivating only the best and purest within our reach. The sad truth is character is being made the chief concern of very few of us. We are sensitive to our reputation, but careless of what is behind the reputation. Character is what we are supposed to be. We admire the noble and unselfish and wish to be thought so ourselves, but do we mire the noble and unselfish and wish to be thought so ourselves, but do we deserve such an estimate? It is not a fact that we take greater pains with our houses and horses, than with the symmetry and sweetness of our souls? The artist's dream may be whiter than marble, but too often he has left himself unshaped while he has done wonders in stone. When men shall be moved to make character their first concern, there shall be such an advancement in human lives, conditions and relations that beholding the new glory of God and the new exalitation of man, they shall call one to another, "Behold the millenium has come!"

SWEDENBORGIAN.

At Temperance Temple Dr. Worcester preached from the text: "Cease to do evil, learn to do well." This is the divine order for the regeneration of man. The very first step toward leading a regenerate life is to cease to do evil, and it is impossible for any one to take the second step until after the first step has been taken. This, is true in everything we do in life. We cannot take the second step of a journey until after we shave taken the first. Any attempt to reverse the divine order must prove unsuccessful and disastrous. If we try to "do well" before ceasing to do evil, we are reversing the divine order and the good we thus attempt to do is only external, hypocritical, while within we are like whited sepulchres, full of dead men's bones and all uncleanness. The sum of the ten commandments is, thou shart not do evil. John the Baptist preached repentance and true repentance is ceasing to do evil. Our spiritual house cannot be made a house of prayer until the den of thleves has been driven out. It is useless to sow wheat in a jungle. The brush and stumps and weeds must be rooted out and the ground prepared before there is any room or chance for wheat to grow. There is no room in our inmost selves for the Lord until we make room by ceasing to do evil, until we shun evils as sins against Him. As repentance is ceasing to do evil, so learning to do well is receiving the Lamb of God which taketh away the Sam of the world. evil, learn to do well." This is the divine order for the regeneration of man ax at the root of the tree, so must we prepare the way by getting society ready for a royal reception to the King of Peace. The most foul and corrupt thing in the world today is politics. Dr. Parkhurst inaugurated a movement for the purification of politics, which has been felt in every large city. It was a move in the right direction. Every Christian preacher and every individual Christian should follow up this great work well begun. Keep politics out in any other State, and men carried it about in sacks and pillow-cases, when the State went into bankruptcy and repudiated all its obligations. Moral: No amount of legislation can enforce the circulation of a debased currency. Three words can express the state of affairs that would be the inevitable result of the free colnage of silver: Disaster, dishonesty, and dishonor. Disaster, dishonesty, and dishonor. Disaster will inevitably follow the establishment of a debased currency, in the instability of banks, the distress of the working classes, and the shaking of credit everywhere. The noble school system of which America is so fustly proud, would suffer through the inevitable reduction of public, school / funds, college endowments would no longer support the institutions of higher learning and great religious bodies would be hampered in their usefulness. Such things would be criminal in the sight of God, and this energetic preacher declared that he meant to protest against them with all the might that was in him until November 3, when he would cast his vote on the right side, with the feeling the more of the repudiation of just and honest obligations, and quite as much in the pro-

us to the proud position of the greatest and richest and most righteous nation on earth. No matter how the next elec-tion goes, we can trust God, and the tion goes, we can trust God, and the American people. Rev. B. F. Huddleson spoke a few minutes in a similar strain. He advo-cated a more enlightened and Chris-tianized conscience.

FIRST CHRISTIAN. Rev. A. C. Smither, who has been been from the city for some time presiding over the convention of Chris-presiding over the convention of Christian churches that has been in session at Long Beach for the past ten days, filled his pulpit at the First Christian Church yesterday morning, discoursing upon "The House of God."

This figure of speech, by which the church is called the house of God is one of the most forceful in the word of God, said the speaker. It indicates the divine origin of the church which was built and is being built by God. In the ages of the past God was planning to erect this church, which was done according to His eternal plan and purpose. Moreover, this church was erected upon His Son as a foundation. No other foundation can be laid than that which is laid, which is Christ Jesus, the Lord. Such a foundation is impregnable, and has resisted every attempt at overthrow through all these centuries.

This structure was built not of per-

This structure was built, not of per-ishable wood or stone, but out of the imperishable souls of the redeemed, which are the living stones from which imperishable souls of the redeemed, which are the living stones from which it is erected. As the stones were prepared for Solomon's temple, and the building went up without sound of hammer, so in the noiseless, purposes and plans of God man is being built into the divine temple, where He shall abide in dazzling beauty and glory through the endless cycles of eternity. God owns this house. It is His by creation. It belongs to Him by the redemption work of His son. His hand has fashloned its stones and reared its walls and it is His own possession. Because of His ownership of this structure He dwells in it. It is His earthly habitation. It is the temple wherein He abides and through which His divine life is revealed to the world. No greater tribute was ever paid to the dignity and rank of man than was paid by the incarnation and the subsequent divine indwelling in the church. One who would gain the most perfect knowledge of God must look perfect knowledge of God must look up to Him through His church as embodying and revealing His Son.

To this church a member owes it as indispensable necessity to deport himself in harmony with the divine plans and rurposes, for this house is to reveal and declare the glory of God to the world. This can only be done through its individual members.

In the evening the Rev. Mr. Smither preached again the concluding sermon at the Long Beach convention of Christian clurches, which has been the best assembly in the history of this work in Southern California.

MR. YOKUM TO MR. TELLER.

Dear Mr. Teller: I am a farmer and I'm going to vote for free silver. I have looked up the subject and find that there are 2000 of you mine-owners and that free coinage will add 65 millions a year to your profits over and above what you now make. That's just bully for you. It gives each one of you $$2,500 a year éxtra. I wish I was a miner, too, I'd like to double up my profits like that. If I did, though, I'd have to cross corn and potatoes and crop the stock at both ends; my hens would have to lay eggs in pairs and triplets and never stop to moult or sit; my bees would have to cross with lightningbugs so they could work day and night, and my cows would have to be double-breasted with four rows of teats. Then I'd be like you. I'd have the world by the tail with a down-hill pull. I'm going to vote for you to have that money, through. Gosh! ain't it a pile? I wonder what you'll do with it all. Yours truly.

My Dear Mr. Yokum: I have yours of recent date, and beg to thank you for your friendly assurances of support. Replying to your implied question, which your delicacy and good breeding prevented you from asking outright, I will say that the mineowners are not unmindful-of the grave responsibility that will develop upon them when the voters of this country place 65 millions a year in our hands. We shall make our duty in the matter a subject of earnest thought. We shall endeavor to use the money in such a way that the benefits will accrue to all classes. With this end in view, we intend to build up and beautify Denver until it shall surpass London, outrival Paris, and become the peerless city of the world. We shall build chateaus and palaces which will dwarf by comparison the far-famed castles of the Old World.

By this means we shall turn the mighty stream of the world's tourists and pleasure-seekers to Denver and the regions, roundabout. Vast sums of money now spent in Europe will then be spent here. There will be better prices for everything your farm produces, especially fresh eggs and spring chickens. Your sons can get positions as cab-drivers, and there will be an enormous demand for country girls to serve us in our beautiful homes.

Not being an agriculturist myself, I do not feel competent to say whether or not your suggestion as to crossing things and doubling the product is feasible. I will say, however, that with my limited knowledge of such matters the suggestions show deep thought on your part, and appear to me to be eminently worthy of further consideration. I shall esteem it one of my pleasurable duties to embrace the earliest opportunity to urge upon Congress a bill making ample appropriation wherewith to establish and maintain an experimental station at which your valuable suggestions can be scientifically tested. I know of no more fitting person to be placed at the head of such an institution than yourself. Yours very truly, My Dear Mr. Yokum: I have your of recent date, and beg to thank you

Rev. George E. Dye delivered an address on "Christian Citizenship" from the text "We ought to obey God rather than Man." Peter was asked for silver or gold. He answered that he had neither, but he had something better, the happiness of an unsuilled conscience and the power of God. He took the cripple by the hand and bade him arise and he went away praising God, Great excitement prevailed, and the scribes and Pharasees demanded that, the common people, but Peter answered that dis on work that did so much the common people, but Peter answered that, the world in righteousness. We hope to enable the railroads to raise the wages of their employés. We shall work indirectly for the employés benefit by increasing the business of the road. You see, there are only about 2000 of us and we shall have $55,000,000 to spend annually. We expect to import extensively for our Colorado villas. We shall bring in French and Arabian horses, great quantities of furniture, pictures and marbles, obelisks from the mysterious East, wines and spices and tropical plants and fruits, rugs and tapestries, and whatever the invention of man has devised to minister to the delight of the wealthy.

You can readily see that all this freight and express business must so increase the receipts of the railroads that they can advance wages as the money in which they pay depreciates. My sympathies are with the toiling masses.

Dear Teller: This morning I wired you as follows: "Send draft for forty thousand immediately. Immense scheme. Don't fail. Have written. Answer."

Upon receipt of your dispatch saying you had sent draft, I at once closed with the Hope Life Insurance Company for $40,000 of their capital stock, at par. This company has a capital of $500,000. They have assets amounting to $20,000.

These facts in themselves would not have attracted me, but through one of the officers I learned these two additional facts: First, that the company has limited-term policies which will mature during the next four years at the rate of $15,000 each month; second, that the company holds an option on the Pigeon Wing mine, which is yielding, at the present price of silver, $10,000 worth of bullion per month. You will see at once the beauties of this combination. With the free coinage of silver it will require but $7500 worth of bullion to make $15,000 in silver when coined. I have ascertained that there is no stipulation in any of the policies requiring payment in a particular kind of money. There is no possible way by requiring payment in a particular kind of money. There is no possible way by which the policy-holders can prevent us from paying them in silver after the inauguration of free coinage. By paying in dollars that cost us but 50 cents, we shall says on those policies. we shall save on these policies as they mature $7500 per month for the next four years, which aggregates $360,000. measure with the flattering prospects. Things are coming our way fast. Of course your business sagacity will suggest to you the imperative necessity of keeping discreetly quiet.

For heaven's sake don't let anything occur by which the policy-holders can find this out until after the election. The one thing I have feared and still fear in the present campaign is the man who for years has been carrying a policy on his life, and his name is legion. If he finds this out, our name will be damp soil. Under no circumstances let it become known that the insurance company is connected with or interested in a silver mine. I would suggest—indeed, I would urge—that the suggest—indeed, I would urge—that the insurance company make a show of denouncing the silver movement; let them throw gold-dust in the eyes of their policy-holders. Were the vote to be taken now we would sweep the country. I very much fear a reaction will take place before November. It would be awful to fall now with untold millions almost within our grasp. Our greatest danger, as I have said, is with the holders of life-insurance policies.

If they once stop to reflect that their policies will be paid to their widows and children in 50-cent dollars, they will stampede to the gold camp. Nothing on earth can stop them. Burn this letter. Very truly yours.

A LECTURE ON INDIA BEFORE THE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

PASADENA.

Prof. Foster Gives an Interesting Account of the Country, Its People and Their Manner of Life-Great Good Accomplished by the Missionaries.

PASADENA, Aug. 23.-(Regular Correspondence.) The lecture given by Prof. Foster before the Epworth League Friday evening was a rare treat, and peaker has a personal knowledge of the country and is a forecful and eloquent narrator, he held his audience from beginning to end. Prof. Foster first described the routes to India, relating how that country might be reached from California and the facilities of Indian travel. Bombay and Calcutta were also described and many facts given concerning the public and domestic architecture of Indian cities and the manner of life, both among the resident Europeans and the among the resident Europeans and the natives. The "tatty," the "punkah," and various other conveniences which render the heated term in Indian bearable were described, and an intersifing account given of the habits of the people, their society customs and municipal regulations. One of the most valuable portions of the address was that relating to the different realigions of the hatives of India and the missionary efforts that have been made among them. The work of the various missions was commended in the highest terms, and Bishop Thoburn, who is in charge of the missionary work of the Methodist church in that country, was eloquently culogized. At the close of Prof. Foster's remarks a vote of thanks was tendered him by the league.

POMONA. POMONA, Aug. 23.-(Regular Corre spondence.) Although there was quite a large crowd at the Bryan meeting Saturday evening, it must be admitted a large crowd at the Bryan meeting Saturday evening, it must be admitted by even the more sanguine advocates of the silver cause, that as soon as the noise and the music died away, the enthusiasm flagged, for the crowd grew restless and the speaker, Col. Berry, failed to hold their attention. In fact, it was plainly evident that the off hand, fluent, "catchy", style was not his role, and the hoped-for out-burgis of unalloyed applause were not forthcoming. The speaker of the evening was introduced by Capt. A. D. Thatcher of this place, in a speech of some minutes' duration. The greater portion, if not all, of the Pomona McKinley Club, after its regular weekly session, came up to the grounds and heard whatewas to be heard. It is doubtful if a single convert to free silver was gained.

A GREAT AUDIENCE CAME OUT TO TO HEAR COL. EDDY.

Powerful Address Upon the Issue of the Campaign — J. H. Garner Dead—Republicans at Fullerton Organize for the Campaign.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 23.-(Regular SANTA ANA, Aug. 25. Correspondence.) Never before at so early a date in a political campaign has a speaker been favored with so large and intelligent an audience in Santa. Ana as greeted Col. T. V. Eddy at Neill's Hall, Saturday even-

col. Eddy had been speaking in different points throughout the county every night for the past several nights, and the effect of his truthful statements about the money question and ments about the money question and other issues of the present campaign traveled into many a household in town and country. And such an influence has it had that his audiences have been growing rapidly every night. Had he three or four more nights to talk in all probability there is not a hall in the county that would hold the people that would assemble to hear him. Neill's Hall, in this city, was filled to overflowing Saturday evening with ladies and gentlemen, many being unable to gain admittance to the hall on account of its crowded condition.

evening with ladies and gentiemen, many being unable to gain admittance to the hall on account of its crowded condition.

During the day little handbills had been distributed around over town, stating that in the evening Col. Eddy would have something to say upon the value of the silver dollar. This announcement, no doubt, did much toward bringing out many of the silverites, for they were numerous in the rear of the hall.

At a few minutes past 8 o'clock George E. Huntington, chalrman of the Orange County McKinley Club, introduced the speaker in a neat and effective little talk. The colonel was a little hoarse from talking the previous night out of doors at Orange to a large audience, but as he proceeded with fils address his voice became more clear and by the time he was half through, his voice was in its usual good form. Col. Eddy stated to the audience that he was well aware that with the Democrats and Populists there was but one issue in the present campaign, and that that issue was the unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. While he did not deem this an important issue, it was a fact that the enemy were making it the sole issue, and he proposed to meet them on their own ground. Therefore, he would deal with the silver question, and would prove to his audience before he finished his gaddress, that the silver issue is only a Democratic bugaboo, and that the real issue should be now, as it has been in the past, protection to American industries. The storm of applause that followed this statemen: of his bellef showed conclusively that he had touched a responsive chord in the minds of the audience.

Reviewing at length the history of silver from its inception in this country, going way back to the year 1806, he gave a most thorough and compre-stee chord in the minds of the addience.

Reviewing at length the history of silver from its inception in this country, going way back to the year 1806, he gave a most thorough and comprehensive explanation of the white metal's ups and downs and incidentally exposing the scheme of the Democrats and Populists to make capital of the story of the crime of 1873. Before closing upon this subject, the speaker showed how unimportant the free coinage of silver would be in the betterment of the country's financial condition. Free and unlimited coinage of silver would simply mean that the silver buillion of this and other countries would be dumped into the mints of the United States and coined free of charge. The money then would belong to the people who had the buillion coined and how would the public generally be benefited. How would the laboring man get a part of it. Surely not unless he had some opportunity of earning it by the sweat of his brow.
Open up the factories and shops of the land, give the laborer an opportunity to exchange his muscle for coinprotect America's infant industries and there is money enough already boxed up in the mints of the United States to bring back the prosperity of a few years ago, and to furnish employment for every honest man who wants to work. The Democratic party, through its unwonted stupidity and assinine character, has killed the industries of the United States and the free coinage of all the silver in the world will not again open the doors of the shops and factories that the laboring man may have his due. Away with such fallacious argument. The silver issue is only a crazy fad, and it will die as may have his due. Away with such fallacious argument. The silver issue is only a crazy fad, and it will die as it should before the 3d of next Novem-

is only a crazy rad, and it will die as it should before the 3d of next November.

Touching upon the sugar-beet interests, Col. Eddy showed what protection to that industry alone would mean to the Orange-county farmers and he was correct in drawing his conclusions that no sane sugar-beet raiser would vote for W. J. Bryan for the Presidency. He prophesied that Orange county would never have a sugar factory under a Democratic administration, but that just as soon as the advocates of the protective principles of the Republican party were once more installed in the national government, money would be forthcoming for as many factories as the people of this fertile valley wanted to build.

The address was closed with a beautiful tribute to Maj. William McKinley as he will be seen on the old ship of state, guiding her safely over troubled waters and on to victory in November next.

waters and on to victory in November next.

Many ladies and gentlemen made their way to the stage through the crowd to congratulate Col. Eddy upon his most excellent address. This is a campaign of education and a few more speakers like Col. Lieut Winans, Corporal Taylor and Musician Lieut. Charter, the Populist State organ of California, arrived in this city on the steamer Corona yesterday, and held s big labor exchange meeting at G.A.R. Hall last night. Their membership in this city now numbers sixty-five, and the organization will be completed in a few days. Mr. Wilkins has the honor of having been a delegate to every I opulist national convention ever held, and he was one of the leaders of the "middle-of-the-roaders" at St. Louis. He said in an interview today that McKinley is sure to be the next President, and gave as his reasons for this assertion that the McKinley forces are united, while the Bryan forces are not, and never can be, unless Sewall is absolutely withdrawn from the ticket, which will not happen. He says the Populists will never unite in the support of Sewall, the multi-millionaire bank president and railroad president, and known in New England as a gold-standard man. He says he would not give one cent on the dollar for Watson's chances, and declares that at least a million "middle-of-the-roaders" will not support the present combination. The Populists of the South will never unite with the Democrats, who have murdered them in the past. He predicts that California will be for McKinley this fall by a good-sized majority, if politicians persist in forcing Sewall upon the Populist voters. This frank acknowledgment of defeat by one of the leaders who is in a position to know whereof he speaks amounts to more than a straw, as indicating the probable result in November.

Now that one of the leading kindergarten teachers in the United States has been secured as superintendent of the public kindergarten of this city, people are asking why they should not maintain a training school here. The city has the equipment, room, material and instructor. This would give the home girls a chance to become practical kindergarten teachers without going away, and without any great expense. They would also be used as assistants without pay, thus increasing the capacity of the local schools and reducing the expense to the public. The matter will doubtless be brought to the attention of the school trustees in the near future.

Alas: My vote is gone, when I find to my mind and to the unthinking minds of thousands of others just like me that the word "free" that was so pleasing and fascinating, means quite a different thing from the ordinary acceptation of the word. I see now, when it is too late, that it means the government would lay down the bars of restriction around my silver dollar and half of it was "free to fly." That is absolutely true, and the only free feature about the proposition to me, is beyond doubt the loss of my half dollars. If my Democratic friends and free-silver advocates have any other solution to offer, I would be glad to have it; while in the mean time, I abhor any platforms containing planks of

SANTA BARBARA, (Cal..) Aug. 21, 1896.—(To the Editor of The Times:) The gross ignorance, (or is it sometimes willful disregard?) of even recent financial history, so generally displayed by the sliver propagandists and their deluded followers, is seldom better exemplified than in a dispatch printed in The Times of today, under the heading, "Washington Prattle," wherein is announced the sagacious resolve of the Democratic committee to "publish an extract from the message of President Grant sent to Congress January 14, 1875, announcing his approval of the act for the resumption of specie payments," the declared object of such publication being, forsooth, to advertise to the American people the appalling and humiliating fact that President Grant "did not know that sliver had been demonetized by the act of 1872," (a misprint for 1873,) said act of 1873 being commonly designated in the sliverite jargon as the "Crime" with a great big capital C, "and don't you forget it!" See?)

To make plain the aforesaid alleged fact, even to the dullest intellect numbered within the ranks of those whom our friend Mr. Bryan chooses to classify as the "common people," the dispatch goes on to quote from President Grant's messages as follows:

"In fact to carry out the first section of the act, another mint becomes necessary. With the present facilities for colnage it would take a period probably beyond that fixed by law for final specie resumption to coin the silver neceessary to transact the business of the country." There are now event.

specie resumption to coin the silver necessary to transact the business of specie resumption to coin the silver neceessary to transact the business of the country. There are now some smelting furnaces for extracting silver and gold ores brought from the mountainous Territories, in Chicago, St. Louis and Omaha, three in the former city, and, as much of the change required will be wanted in the Mississippi Valley States, and as the metal to be coined comes from the west of these States, (and) as I understand the charges for transportation of buillion from either of the cities named to the mint in Philadelphia or New York, amount to 44 for each 31000 worth, with an equal expense for transportation back, it would seem a fair argument in favor of adopting one or more of these cities as the place or places for the establishment of new coinage facilities."

Now, it is quite evident, even to us "common people," that some Popocratic "muck-a-muck" at headquarters, guard female interests.

ARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH BY A WOMAN BICYCLER

relessness of a Young Man Said to Have Been the Cause of the Ac-cident — The Victim's Nose Broken and Her Face Cut Open.

Mrs. Emma Tilton, an elderly woman, had a most miraculous escape from a horrible death on North Main street yesterday afternoon and as it is, will probably be disfigured for life. She was hurled from her bicycle beneath a moving electric car and dragged nearly forty feet, in the presence of hor-rified spectators, before the car could be brought to a standstill.

The accident was due, it is claimed by many, to the carelessness of a young man said to be J. P. McDonald, who resides at the corner of Chestnut

They were wheeling north on Main street about 3 o'clock, Mr. Tilton riding a little in advance of his wife. Both were on the east side of the street between the car track of the Kuhrts-street line and the curbing. Mrs. Tilton was three or four feet from the car track. A short distance north of Commercial street, a young man, it is said, darted from the sidewalk, evidently intending to board Kuhrts-street car No. 10, which was approaching from the north at a fair rate of speed.

He struck Mrs. Tilton's wheel and an instant later the machine and its rider were being dragged under the forward part of the car.

The imperiled woman uttered an agonizing shriek and the motorneer promptly shut off the current and applied the brakes. Some one on the rear of the car pulled the trolley rope and the car was stopped, not, however, before it had dragged the unfortunate woman nearly forty feet.

It seems that the machine had gone under the car first and its rider had been thrown on top of it and both had been pushed along by the guard on the front of the car. With rare presence of mind Mrs. Tilton had seized hold of some of the framework under the car, robably the running board, and held on with determination.

As soon as the car had been stopped willing hands removed her from her perilous position. Blood was streaming from a great, jagged wound in her forehead and there was a large lump on her left forehead.

Hastlly she was removed to Heinzeman's drug store at No. 222 North Main street and the patrol wagon was called by Officer Fowler. When the wagon arrived Mrs. Tilton refused to go to the Receiving Hospital.

She said she did not know when she received the injuries, but thought it was when she fell. "I reached up and caught hold of something, I could not see what," said she, "I was about to let go, but thought I would try to open my eyes and see where I was. Mr. S. Summerfield of the dry goods firm of Hirsch & Co., Yazoo City, Miss., relates under date of June 4, 1895: "I have been troubled with dyspepsia for over fifteen years, and the last five years suffered intensely. I have tried quite a number of remedies. and though at times they relieved my suffering, they never cured me. About four months ago I noticed the advertisement of Ripans Tabules in the St. Louis Republic. I secured a box, and by using them as directed they benefited me mor than I expected. After using three boxes of the Tabules I found that all signs of the disease had disappeared and that I was gaining in weight right along, and today I can say that I am thoroughly cured, I have gained in weight seventeen pounds, my weight increasing from 128 pounds to 145."

Ripans Tabules are sold by Gruggists or by sall if the price (50c a box) is sent to The tipans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., ew York. Sample vial. 10 cents. TIMKEN SIDE SPRING BUGGY.
